DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claim 1, 2, and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Townsend et al. (Hereinafter "Townsend") (US Patent 6,606,388).

Regarding Claim 1, Townsend discloses a band-pass extension device comprising: an input for receiving an input signal (Fig. 2, Input); a first signal path coupled to the input, the first signal path comprising filter means (references 208, 212, 216, and 220) for filtering the input signal, and creating means for creating an adapted signal with a lower frequency part than the input signal (Townsend discloses subharmonic artifacts in the signal, Col. 4, lines 54-61); a second signal path also coupled to the input, the second signal path comprising delay means (226) for compensating delays due to the processing of the input signal in the first signal path; and combining means for combining the adapted signal of the first signal path with an output signal of the second signal path (234).

Regarding Claim 2, Townsend further discloses delay means passing all frequencies (Col. 5, lines 1-13).

Regarding Claim 4, Townsend further discloses an audio reproduction device system comprising a device as claimed in claim 1.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Townsend as applied to claim 1 in view of Sakata (US Patent 5,230,022).

Regarding Claim 3 Watanabe discloses a device as stated apropos of claim 1 above but does not disclose the delay of the delay means is controllable. Sakata discloses a low frequency compensating circuit with two signal paths (Figure 1) including Fixed delaying circuit 3 which delays the time of the low frequency signal in order to improve the response characteristic on the auditory sense at the reproduction of low frequency so the sounds are clear and crisp (Col. 3, lines 10-20). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include a controllable delay to improve the response characteristic on the auditory sense at the reproduction of low frequency so the sounds are clear and crisp as taught by Sakata.

Conclusion

Art Unit: 2644

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
